Reading Great Books

Classical educators believe that there are real standards for truth, goodness, and beauty and therefore pronounce some books good and some poor. Some have even been deemed great books because they contain great ideas that have given birth to great and ongoing conversation. Both as part of our curriculum and as a community, we seek to read living books, those that have stories that stay with you because they touch your emotions and fire your imagination as you read. This workshop will help select literature for your Class 3-Class 8 children and support them as they become not only great readers but people who think great thoughts. All parents are welcome to attend this workshop which will be led by Mallory Dawson (Heritage Librarian and mother), Erin Hames (Heritage Headmaster and mother), and Jennifer Sciubba (Heritage Class 3 and Lower School Lead Teacher).
